The Flemingsburg Times-Democrat prints the following for a true story, says the Winchester Democrat: A daughter of Capt. C. P. Brooks walked in her sleep eight miles along the C. & O. railroad, passing through one long tunnel and over twelve trestles. Chickens crowing for daylight awakened her, and when she realized her position, found herself standing by a mile post, eight miles east of Olive Hill. More trains than usual had passed over the road that night, and it seems almost a miracle that she was not killed.

A Chicago paper states that a young couple got married on the North side. The question will naturally arise why they didn't get married all over.

An "Old Folks" Dinner.

At an "old folks" dinner given by Dr. Guerrant and wife, at Wilmore, Jessamine county, twenty-six guests over seventy years of age gathered to enjoy the generous old citizen's hospitality and talk over "other days." The oldest person present was Mr. David Black, the venerable elder from Troy church, who is as erect as a poplar and in possession of all his faculties to a remarkable degree, and will be ninety-two years of age next January.

Some newspaper men are terrible liars, says an exchange. In writing of a cyclone out west one of them said it turned a well inside out, a cellar upside down moved a township line, blew all the staves out of a whiskey barrel and left nothing but a bung hole, changed the day of the week, blew the hair off a bald-headed man, blew mortgages off farms, blew all the cracks out of a fence and took all the wind out of a politician.

The people of the United States will erect a magnificent monument at the grave of La Fayette in France. The monument will be paid for by the contributions of the school children of this country. Europe by this act will learn that the United States never forgets a friend.

A special from Richmond says: In response to the wishes of many friends Hon. John B. Chenault today announced himself a Democratic candidate for Auditor of the State. He is an original free silver man, former chairman of the Democratic County Committee, Vice President of the State Bank & Trust Company and belongs to one of the oldest and most prominent families in Kentucky.

The Rev. H. C. Morrison, Holiness evangelist, and editor of the Pentecostal of Louisville, has announced his withdrawal from the Southern Methodist Church. The cause of this action is that the laws of the church do not permit him to preach where he pleases. The pastor of the church at Terrel, Texas, refused to grant him permission to hold services there, which occasioned the step. The Rev. Morrison is a leader of the Holiness element and it is believed that a division of the church may result.

Growing boys and girls do not always appreciate that it is while they are growing that they are forming their figures for after life. Drooping the shoulders a little each day, drooping the head a little as one walks, standing uneven, so that one hip sinks lower than the other—all defects easily corrected now, will be five times as hard in ten years from now. A graceful easy carriage, and an erect, straight figure, are a pleasure to the beholder and possessor, and are worth striving for.—Ex.

Men are like hogs, however distasteful this may sound to the hogs. When one hog gets an ear of corn, every other hog will trot along behind and squeal, and squeal and beg, and is ready for a bite, but just let the hog get his head fast in a crack and every son of a sow will jump on him and tear him to pieces. Just so with men. As long as a man is prospering and has money he can't keep friends off with a base ball bat. The moment he is unfortunate and his wealth gone, he is not only snubbed by former alleged friends but they begin to do him all the harm possible. When a man starts up-grade the world falls behind and pushes, but when he starts down-grade the world steps to one side and greases the track.—Ex.

A suspicious subscriber, who found a spider in his paper, wants to know if it is a bad omen. Nothing of the kind. The spider was merely looking over the columns of the paper to see what merchants were not advertising, so that it might know where to spin its web across the door and be free from disturbance.—Barbourville Pathfinder.

Better Roads Needed.

Some well-informed authority on the subject of public roads states that there are 1,500,000 miles of public roads in the United States, over which the aggregate amount of 500,000,000 tons of freight is hauled annually.

Estimating the average distance over which freight is thus hauled from the farm to the depot at eight miles, it is figured that the total cost of hauling freight annually over the public roads in the United States is 1,000,000,000, or $2 per ton.

With uniformly good public roads it is claimed that the cost of hauling freight from the farm to the depot ought not to be more than $400,000,000, or $600,000,000 less than what it is at present. This difference is strongly emphasized by the authority from whom we quote when he states that it is equivalent to the yearly interest on $20,000,000,000 of 3 per cent government bonds, and adds that with only one-half of this almost inconceivably vast amount every public road in the United States could be rebuilt.—Midway Clipper.

An Indiana grocer prints the following in a circular, addressed to patrons: "Notice is hereby given that if you will come to my store three times a day during the next year and purchase a drink of whisky each time paying 10 cents a drink, at the end of the year I will donate five barrels of my best flour, 100 pounds of granulated sugar, 100 pounds of rice, 10 pounds of coffee, 10 gallons of syrup, 50 yards of calico, three pairs of shoes, one $10.50 cloak for your wife, and then I will have $20 left to pay for the liquor you drank."

Murder and Suicide.

A Tuesday's special from Middleboro says: At Powell's Valley, a day or so ago, Walter Burrows killed his wife with a forty-five caliber revolver and then shot himself instantly. Mrs. Burrows was shot three times through the heart. The tragedy was due to jealousy, which neighbors say was groundless.

The Kentucky W. C. T. U. Convention will meet in Louisville September 30 to October 4th.

John McCoy, of Princeton, has grown a peach which weighs seven and one-half pounds. It is of the freestone variety.

Sickness has attacked the hospital nurses and doctors at Fort Thomas. The official reports to Major Hall show eight of the nurses ill. Most of them are suffering from over work. Their illness is causing some slight inconvenience. Dr. McVean is suffering from a bad case of blood poisoning in his left hand. It is giving him some alarm.

John Harrison, an old time negro, who is now living with the family of Mr. Montgomery Bolling, near the Levee, was in the city Saturday and called around to see some of his old acquaintances among the white people. John is one of the sure-enough old-school darkies and it does the heart good to see such as he, for the African descendants of his class are fast disappearing. John is a devout christian, a free silverite, and votes the Democratic ticket.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

The speech of Father Abraham in the last number of Poor Richard's Almanac, published by Benjamin Franklin in 1757, "Contains the Wisdom of many ages and nations assembled and formed into one connected discourse." Shoots His Wife, Then Himself.

A Wednesday's special from London says: News of the shocking tragedy in Jackson county, which resulted in the death of County Judge Levi Johnson and his wife, was finally confirmed here this afternoon. From the most reliable sources of information it seems that Judge and Mrs. Johnson had a misunderstanding about some matter and she threatened to return to her former home. This angered the Judge, who declared he would kill her if she did so. It is said that Mrs. Johnson started to leave the premises when Judge Johnson seized a revolver and fired at her, killing her almost instantly. He then committed suicide.

A Remarkable Old Man.

There is not a more unique character in existence than "Uncle Bob" Mulhall, now in his seventy-second year, says the Hodgenville Herald. He has this summer sown and harvested seven acres of oats, broken the ground and cultivated twelve acres of corn, besides tending a large garden. He went through the Mexican war and saw four years actual service in the war of the rebellion. Last spring he said that if his services were needed to help conquer Spain that he was ready to go.

A Baltimore young man and young woman have had to go to jail for kissing in the park. There is no safety for any park young man if he can not pass himself off as Hobson.

Porto Rico.

The island of Porto Rico is the fourth of the West Indian islands in size. While much smaller than Cuba, and not possessed of as varied natural resources, it is nevertheless, one of the richest colonial possessions in the world.

The soil of almost the entire island is remarkably fertile. The climate is mild and the island in nearly every respect is one of the most favored in the West Indies.

There are twenty-one rivers in Porto Rico, some of which are navigable for five or six miles from their mouths.

Gold, carbonate and sulphides of copper, and considerable quantities of magnetic oxide of iron have been found.

Hot springs and mineral water are found at Juan Diaz, San Sebastian, San Corenzo and Ponce, but the most famous is at Coame, near the town of Santa Isabel.

The wealth of Porto Rican forests is very great, but, owing to inadequate means of transportation, this part of the natural wealth of the island has, as yet, scarcely been touched.

Of the total area of over 3,600 square miles about 3,171 square miles are under cultivation, including the area devoted to pasturage, which makes up an average of about 1,808 square miles.

The principle cities of Porto Rico are San Juan, population 27,000; Ponce, 18,000; Mayaguez, 20,000; Arecibo, 11,000; Aguadilla, 9,000, and Guayama, 5,400.

The sugar industry is the most important. Next to sugar, the staple product of the island is coffee. The coffee of Porto Rico commands a high price. On account of the quantity and the ease with which it can be raised, the cultivation of coffee promises to become the most important industry in the island within a few years.—Exchange.

Quite a Snake Story.

"Speaking of snakes," said Mr. N. L. Ware in the Hazel Green Herald, "I heard quite a good snake story while in Tennessee. A reliable gentleman, Mr. W. J. Griffith, of Oliver Springs, Tennessee, told me that he was sitting on his veranda reading, and to rest his eyes he commenced to look across the road that runs immediately in front of his home, when he saw a blacksnake on the opposite side of the road. Presently it came toward his house, with a halt now and then, as though it was trailing something. On it came, up the steps, across the porch and into the house, where it crawled between the ticks of a bed, and in two or three minutes it came out with a large rattlesnake firmly gripped close behind the head. It pulled itself and the rattler to the road, where it quickly settled accounts with the rattler, and went away as it had come.

Boycotted.

Cattle dealers of the county are now using the R. N. I. & B. railroad almost exclusively in shipping cattle to the Cincinnati and other markets. The L. & N. railroad wanted extra pay for making the second sittings of cars at different points for the purpose of taking on more stock and this the dealers have refused to pay. Something like fifty car loads of stock a week are being handled.—Richmond Pantagraph.

The inventive facilities of the Winchester girl seem practically unlimited. By tying sandpaper about her ankles a Winchester girl produces the same effect as by buying an expensive silk skirt. The pieces of sandpaper rub together and sound just like a $12 skirt. Pretty rough on the dressmakers though.—Richmond Pantagraph.
